

Loffler Companies Expands with Acquisition of General Business Equipment, Inc.

BLOOMINGTON, MN – July 15, 2010 – Loffler Companies today announced the acquisition of General Business Equipment, Inc., an imaging technology company that provides Savin brand equipment and document solutions for businesses throughout western Wisconsin. With the constant challenge to adapt to the latest technology innovations, Loffler Companies is dedicated to providing all of their customers with the best products and service available.

Both companies are committed to producing a smooth transition for current customers. Loffler Companies will continue to provide General Business Equipment clients with a high level of support for their current investments in technology and services.

“This change means that now we will be able to offer a full array of digital products, from digital office technology, voice and dictation, IT services, software solutions, facilities management, and telephony,” says Owner, Eric Durhman. In addition to Savin, General Business Equipment clients will have the ability to choose from leading brands such as Canon, Konica Minolta, and HP for copier and printer technology.

As an Independent Professional Services Organization, Loffler Companies is dedicated to providing superior digital office technologies. They have emerged into a Business Communications Company that offers a broad portfolio of technology, services and solutions. Loffler Companies made the 2009 Inc 5000 list of the fastest growing companies in America and was also the recipient of the 2009 Elite Dealer award.

General Business Equipment, Inc. was founded in 1992 to bring the latest imaging technology to the businesses of western Wisconsin and the St. Croix River valley. As a Savin dealer, they offer the industry's broadest and most connected line of digital imaging systems, from compact systems that deliver the power to print, copy, scan and fax from a desktop to departmental digital color systems which enhance office productivity and document workflow.

Loffler Companies provides their clients with a wide range of business communication options: Multifunctional Copiers, Printers, Color, Total Print Management, Software Solutions & Professional Services, On-Site Management Services (Facilities Management), IT Managed Services & Solutions, and Telephony & Voice Recording Solutions. They offer quality choices to their clients by partnering with the industry's leading solutions from Canon, Konica Minolta, HP, Kyocera Copystar, EFI, eCopy, NEC, Big Hand, extremeNetworks, and others.
